

SUBURBAN INTELLIGENCE.

NEW JERSEY.

A MAN OVERBOARD.—On Tuesday night a man was jumping on the ferryboat at the foot of Cortlandt street when he slipped and fell into the water. He was rescued by the bridge tender and two other men, who witnessed the act.

ARREST OF A HOUSE-BOY.—A young colored man was arrested on the ferry at half past seven o'clock last evening, having in his possession a pocket watch, which he had stolen previously, and which he was conveying to New York. He was taken by the owner and brought to the police station.

SEVERITIES.—A man named John Lindsay was arrested last evening on suspicion of stealing two buffalo robes found in his possession.

Several men were employed yesterday in opening a passage from the foot of City Hall place, Hudson City, to the Erie railway tunnel, for the purpose of inspecting the shaft and removing loose pieces of rock.

The inquest on the body of Mrs. Saenger, who was burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, was held last evening before Coroner Burns, and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts already published.

Some of the public schools have been so severely affected by the cold weather that the children were dismissed on several occasions. Superintendent Evans at length took the matter in his own hands and applied a remedy.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR.—Yesterday morning a gentleman accompanied by his wife and child was traveling on the train from Newark to Jersey City.

When a dispute arose between him and the conductor about the tickets, which were dated for Tuesday. The lady assured the conductor in the most positive manner that the tickets were for the train which left before the train started, so that the mistake rested with the ticket agent, but the assurance of a lady had no weight with the conductor, who insisted that the gentleman should pay or leave the car. At last, finding that explanation was in vain, the gentleman arose, his eyes flashing with indignation, and addressed the conductor: "Well, sir, get up or get off." The official, seeing the passenger's face, rose, and the lady, who had been sitting next to him, rose also, and the train started.

THE GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH is about to receive substantial aid from the ladies of the congregation, who opened a grand fair and festival at the Martha Institute last evening. The hall was handsomely decorated, and the attendance was respectable. The fair closed at a early hour.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER HIS WIFE.—An old offender named Joseph Leonard, who so ferociously beat his wife some time ago, was arrested yesterday for attempting to kill her. When the officer entered the house, Leonard was whetting his razor to cut her throat. He was arrested before Judge White and committed to the county jail.

ATROCIOUS ASSAULT ON A BOATMAN.—Yesterday afternoon a man named Thomas Firth, employed on the canal boat Farchild, procured a warrant from Justice White for the arrest of William Shields and John Cappel, for beating him brutally on board the boat. They accused him of robbing them, and after a brief dispute, fell upon him and would have thrown him into the water, had not the boatman called to the aid of two men. The complainant was seriously injured internally by the blows which his assailants made on him with their fists and feet. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

BROOKLYN CITY COURT.

Share in Erie.

Before Judge Thompson.

Seba M. Bogart vs. William Bontom.—The plaintiff is a stock and share broker doing business in Wall street, New York, and alleged that he was employed to purchase Erie shares for the defendant, and when the time came for a settlement it was said that there was a balance due to him of $2,700. The defendant declined to pay. For the defence it was claimed that the transaction for which plaintiff claimed was a loan, and not a purchase of shares. The court ordered a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, together with interest.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

STEALING WINE.—Maggie Maloney and Annie Armstrong were taken to jail by Justice Wagon yesterday for stealing fifty dollars' worth of wine from the railway of the residence of Mrs. Close, No. 88 Pineapple street. The wine was recovered.

THE STABBING AFFAIR IN FRONT STREET.—The friends of John McGee, who stabbed Dennis Burns in front street with a file last Friday night, made an application before Judge Walsh yesterday to admit McGee to bail. The court refused to do so, and McGee remained in jail.

SEVERE ASSAULT.—James McDougall and his son were attacked on the corner of Columbia and Seagovick streets, South Brooklyn, last night, and severely beaten with clubs. A man named John Kemp was arrested on a charge of being one of the parties concerned in the assault.

THE FURMAN STREET DISASTER.—Coroner Jones and jury proceeded to the City Hospital last evening and took the statement of Mrs. Wallace, the unfortunate woman who jumped from the fourth story window of the Furman street building. The statement was similar to that made to the Fire Marshal a week since and published in the Herald.

ACCUSED OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Officer Shannahan, of the Forty-fourth precinct, arrested John Sheridan, at an early hour yesterday morning, on a charge of highway robbery. Mr. John Bailey, residing at No. 100 West Houston street, was robbed at an early hour yesterday morning, says he was met by the accused and another man, who knocked him down and robbed him of his pocketbook, containing the sum of $200. The money was not recovered.

THE BETHEL WEEKLY ENTERTAINMENTS.—The third of the very popular entertainments given in the Bethel of Plymouth church, in aid of the Mission School, was attended last night by an audience very respectable, both in numbers and character. The entertainment was similar to that given a week since and published in the Herald.

PRIZE FIGHT IN BROOKLYN.—A prize fight took place yesterday morning in a large room on the ground floor of a certain sporting house in the suburbs of Brooklyn between the above named novices for $100 a side. The fight arose from a dispute between the two men about the respective merits of a pair of bull terrier "pups." Magowan offering to bet $100 that his dog could worry the eyes out of Ryan's, as quick as a streak of greased lightning would run down a conductor. To this Ryan responded by saying his dog was not in proper trim, and he would prepare the animal and have him ready in two weeks, at which case he would willingly go all his greenbacks on him. Magowan replied by applying an epigram to Ryan which was not very complimentary to his (Ryan's) courage, which so much annoyed him that he offered to fight Magowan there and then for the sum of $100 each. Some friends who witnessed the altercation interfered and caused the men to postpone their friendly intentions towards each other until yesterday morning, when both men, by mutual agreement, were to try their skill in the magic circle. Late Tuesday night the place above alluded to was chosen by their friends as most preferable to that where the men would run the risk of a snow shower. Magowan, who lives between Johnson and Tillary streets, in Navy street, was seconded by Pat O'Neil, of Navy street, and Ryan, who resides at No. 148 Prospect street, by John Lawlers, of Gold street. Pat Hamilton, of Newark, acted as referee. Pete Downey, of Concord street, was stakeholder.

RECORD OF THE MEN.—Magowan stands about five feet eight and a half inches, and is a powerful, thick set man; pull-downs the scales to 160 lbs. He hails from Glendale, in the county of Los Angeles, and came to this country at an early age. He is a native of the Emerald Isle, and has several fights in the rough and tumble style, from which he always came off victorious. He is a tinsmith by trade, and is also a great breeder of black and white dogs, and is celebrated for his fondness of the latter business.

Ryan stands six feet six inches, weighs 170 pounds and is a native of the Emerald Isle. He came to this country at an early age, and has several fights in the rough and tumble style, from which he always came off victorious. He is a tinsmith by trade, and is also a great breeder of black and white dogs, and is celebrated for his fondness of the latter business.

As soon as everything was ready Ryan alied his castor into the ring, which was quickly followed by Magowan. The latter was dressed in a blue suit, Magowan's red and white, and both were armed with knotted dusters. On receiving the usual caution from the referee, both advanced, shook hands and prepared for the fight.

ROUND 1.—Both men sparred for an opening for about five minutes, when Magowan opened the ball by letting his right foot kick Ryan's nose, who was short, and in return received Ryan's left on the right temple, which sent him sprawling. First knock down for Ryan.

ROUND 2.—Both advanced smiling. Ryan led off with his right, which was neatly stopped by Magowan, who returned with a terrific blow on Ryan's forehead, which sent him sprawling. Second knock down for Magowan.

ROUND 3.—Both cautious, neither appearing willing to take the first blow. Magowan at length feinted, which threw Ryan off his guard, and he received a damaging one on his left eye. Magowan then stepped back, and Ryan followed, who was really good in his foot, which was ended by Magowan going down to avoid punishment. Cries of "Foul!" which was not heaved for the fight.

ROUND 4.—Magowan appeared groggy from the effects of the last round, and started to gain time by letting his right foot kick Ryan's nose, who was short, and in return received Ryan's left on the right temple, which sent him sprawling. First knock down for Ryan.

ROUND 5.—Ryan came up smiling and confident, and led with his right, which was neatly stopped by Magowan, who returned with a terrific blow on Ryan's forehead, which sent him sprawling. Second knock down for Magowan.
